ATHLETES LIST

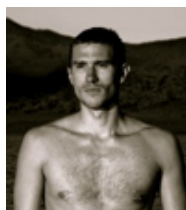

William Trubridge ex-unassisted freediving World Record Holder

The host of the competition, New Zealander William Trubridge will be attempting to reclaim the world title in the purest discipline, unassisted freediving, which he set in Dean's Blue Hole last year, and which was recently taken from him by Herbert Nitsch.

Dave Mullins dynamic world record holder

After smashing the dynamic world record Dave made his intentions clear at the Sharm World Champs with an incredible dive to 111m. This New Zealand diver is just getting warmed up, and with his 16L lungs he could take constant weight to a whole new level.

Guillaume Nery ex-constant weight World Record Holder

The youngest freediver ever to hold a world record, and one of the most graceful with a monofin, Frenchman Guillaume Nery is in training to reclaim the constant weight world record taken from him by the Austrian Herbert Nitsch.

Natalia Avseenko

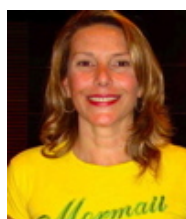

Natalia Avseenko

As a swimmer, Natalia turned down the Russian Olympic team when she refused to take banned substances. In freediving she has found a sport where her purity is rewarded, and she is ready for some very deep unassisted freedives.

Eric Fattah ex-constant weight World Record Holder

He was the first male freediver to set a world record with the monofin, but since then he has been conspicuously absent from the world scene. Eric's intellect and imagination have been behind many of the sport's recent major developments, and there is no knowing what tricks he still has to pull out of the book.

Karol Meyer Brazilian female freediving champion

With huge performances across all the disciplines, Karol is one of the most experienced female freedivers and ICARE female freediver of the year for 2007.

William Winram 2007 bronze (pool) and silver (depth) at the AIDA world champs

Having won numerous competitions and medals in both pool and depth world champs, William is only missing a world record to cement his place as one of today's greatest freedivers.

Ryuzo Shinomiya Japanese male freediving champion

The phenomenal Japanese freediver who has just recently joined the elite club of 100m+ constant weight freedivers, Ryuzo isn't slowing down, and will be an imminent challenger for the world title.

Kathryn Mc Phee Elite New Zealand freediver

Probably NZ's best female freediver, and a passionate no-fins specialist, Kathryn has a huge breath hold that she is only just beginning to convert into depths.

Theo Ivanovic Top US freediver

He's hit his head on the bottom of the England quarries and is looking for a deeper hole... Theo has the US records in CWT and DYN.

Frank Pernet Elite Colombian freediver

An expert in pulmonary physiology, Frank applies his knowledge to his greatest passion, freediving, and will attempt a NR in Dean's Blue Hole.

Tomoko Yamanouchi Elite Japanese freediver

Kerian Hibbs Elite New Zealand freediver

As a member of the elite 200m dynamic club, Kerian is looking to convert his talent in the pool into depth. A background in endurance and multisports mean he has a great fitness base, and with a freediving career of only 2 years Kerian is still improving quickly.

Leo Muraoka Elite American freediver

Apnea Academy instructor and citizen of Hawaii

Megumi Matsumoto Elite Japanese freediver

Christian Maldame Elite French freediver

That will be an exiting competition! I cross my fingers for everyone but a little bit more for Natalia und William Winram :-))
